About Aberystwyth

Aberystwyth is a thriving and lively coastal town located on Cardigan Bay and is the largest town within Ceredigion with a population of approximately 13,000 with a catchment population in the region of 75,000.

The town is approximately 40 miles north of Carmarthen and 55 miles south of Bangor.

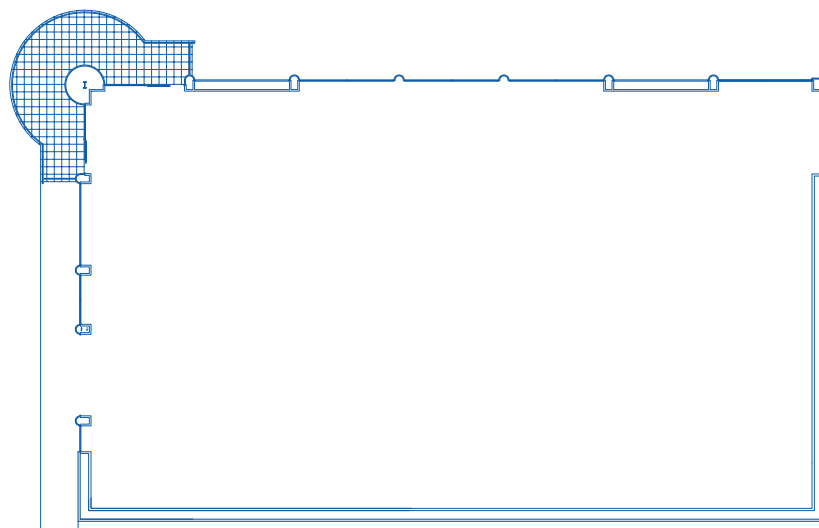

Aberystwyth is a popular tourist town and is proud to be home to both The National Library of Wales and the regional offices of the Welsh Assembly.

Aberystwyth boasts an affluent captive demographic with the majority of the population falling within the 16-24 age group and economically active in full time employment. In addition to the permanent population of the town, numbers are significantly bolstered by a full and part time student population of some 15,500 students.
